STURT GROVE FARM

The School has gained an enviable reputation for its outstanding Agricultural Studies course and many South Australian farmers and agricultural leaders laid the foundations for their subsequent agricultural careers at Westminster School. Sturt Grove is a 1.82 hectare (4.5 acre) farm on campus which provides the basis for Agricultural Studies. Supported by teaching staff and the Farm manager, students play a major part in the running and operation of the farm. The farm is commercial and diversified, including egg and poultry meat production, aquaculture, a glasshouse and a vineyard. Sheep, cattle and goats augment the animal husbandry course.
