I've spent most of my life golfing—therest I've just wasted.

The average golfer doesn't play golf. He attacks it.

Golf is like life in a lot of ways—All the biggest wounds are self-inflicted.

A golf course is nothing but a pool moved outdoors.

There's no game like golf: you go out with three friends, play eighteen holes, and return with three enemies.

My body is here, but my mind has already teed off.

Don't play too much golf. Two rounds a day are plenty.

Playing the game I have learned the meaning of humility. It has given me an understanding of the futility of the human effort.

I regard golf as an expensive way of playing chess.

I don't like to watch golf on television because I can't stand people who whisper.

Golf is an awkward set of bodily contortions designed to produce a graceful result.

The only time my prayers are never answered is on the golf course.

Golf: A game in which you claim the privileges of age and retain the playthings of youth.

The reason the pro tells you to keep your head down is so you can't see him laughing.

It took me seventeen years to get three thousand hits in cricket. I did it in one afternoon on the golf course.

If you think it's hard meeting new people, try picking up the golf ball if you wish to hide your character, do not play golf.
